

Note for Patients regarding Dr Winter

After over thirty years' service at The Avenue Surgery, Dr Winter is starting to think about a well-earned retirement.

However, with the shortage of GP capacity at the practice, he is not going to leave at this point. Instead, he has decided to reduce his hours and focus his time on some specialist areas, including diabetes.

This will mean that you are unlikely to be able to book an appointment with him but that he will be inviting patients with particular conditions to have a review – either over the phone or face to face.

We are sure you are as pleased as we are that he is staying with us for a while longer!

Again, please bear with us as we do all we can to recruit new doctors and other staff to the practice.

Thank you

The Avenue Surgery
